The natural hand cleaner

Healthy and well-cared for hands are of paramount importance for every craftsman. Occupational skin diseases are some of the most commonly reported occupational illnesses. The healing process can take a long time, and retraining is often required or there may even be a risk of incapacity to work. Continual contact with various solvents and substances, as well as the need to wash hands frequently can dry out the skin and reduce its resistance. In turn, dry skin can lead to the development of eczema. A consistent skincare routine is therefore essential to preventing this.

PEVALIN SPECIAL cleans deep into the pores while providing effective moisturisation. The product contains a dirt-dissolving, skin-friendly ester oil and natural, finely rounded abrasives made from walnut shells and corn cobs, which both contribute to the outstanding cleansing effect. Natural shea butter and ingredients from coconut oil provide the skin with valuable moisturisation. Rub PEVALIN SPECIAL into dry hands without water until all the dirt has dissolved. Then add a little water, continue washing and rinse thoroughly.

Note: Avoid contact with eyes. In case of contact with eyes, rinse immediately and thoroughly with plenty of water.

Information about the new natural abrasives

The abrasives used in PEVALIN SPECIAL are obtained by grinding threshed corn cobs and walnut shells. The grains have already been removed, so there is no competition with food production. The walnut shells and corn cobs are grown in Europe. They are finely ground, are light brown or beige in colour and clean thoroughly without damaging the skin.

According to current knowledge, nut allergy sufferers can also safely use walnut shells as an exfoliant. Ground walnut shells have been used in hand cleaners in cases of heavy soiling for many decades.
